REMARKS

ON

Lord BOLINGBROKE's

LETTERS

ONTHE

STUDY and Use of HISTORY :

So far as they relate to the HISTORY of the OLD TESTAMENT;

And especially to the CASE of Noah, denouncing a Curle upon Canaan.

In a Letter to a LADY of QUALITY.

By JAMES HERVEY, A. M. Rector of Weston Favel, Northamptonshire.

Merses profundo, pulchrior evenit.

Hor.

LONDON:

Printed for J. and J. RIVINGTON, in St. Paul's Church-yard. MDCCLII. B.

REMARKS

TO NO DE STATE

Loid BOLINGBROKES

LETTERS

THE RESERVE OF THE PARTY OF THE

Secretary of History:

So far or they related to the transfer

HISTORY of the OLD THIAMENT:

super 2 And openially to the CASE of Noan, denouncing a Curle upon Carrans.

In a Lefter to a Lypy of Ownerry.

By JAMES HERVEY, A.M.

Merfes prefunde, pulcheler evenit.

LOWDON:

Primed for J. and J. Revenue von. in St. Paul's Church-vard. MIXXVLII.

PREFACE.

H E Reader will fee, from the Date of the following Letter, that it was written a confiderable Time ago. From which Circumftance He will probably conclude, that it was not intended for Publication. Conjecture, which is perfectly just. The Publication is owing to the right bonourable Personage, whose Name, though it would grace and recommend his Papers, the Author is not allowed to mention. Her Ladyship's Commands, which would admit of no Excuse, drew the Remarks from his Pen; and her Defire, which with Him will always have the Force of a Command, has brought them to the Press .---

A 2

PREFACE.

It will give Him the highest Pleasure, if, while He is paying the Debt of Obedience and Gratitude to a noble Friend, He may support the Dignity of the Divine Word; may raise its Esteem, and promote its Study among Men. Because then, He may reasonably hope, to promote the best Interests of his Fellow-creatures; and subserve that grand Designation of the almighty Majesty, expressed by the Psalmist--Thou hast magnified thy Word above all thy Name.

the Authoriti isxx onlassional to mention. Her Ladyship's Commands, which would admit of no Excuse, drew the Remarks from his Pen; and her Defire, which with Him will always have the Force of a Command,

-A.R. ught them to the frefi.-

MADAM,

S you was pleafed to afk my Opinion, concerning LORD BOLINGBROKE'S Remarks on the Scriptural History, I have procured the Book; have perused what relates to the Subject; and submit to your Judgment, the Thoughts which occurred. Assuring your Ladyship, that, though many might discuss the Point, much more clearly and satisfactorily, than the Person you savoured with your Commands; yet, no one can think it a greater Honour to receive them, or a greater Pleasure to execute them.

"The Old Testament, it is alledged,
"is no sufficient Foundation for Chrono"logy from the Beginning of Time." —
To enter upon the Niceties of Chronology, would, perhaps, be too difficult a Research;
at a See Lord Bolingbroke's Letters, on the Study and Use of History, Vol. 1. Pag. 98.

at leaft, it would require from your Lady. ship a more painful Attention, than I should chuse to occasion by any of my Letters. And I very frankly own, that I am by no means Master of the Argument, nor equal to the Task. Others, I don't doubt, whose Inclination has disposed, and whose Genius has fitted them for this particular Study, will undertake to decide the Question; and give the Honour, where the Honour is due. - This, however, from a very fcanty Survey of the Cafe, I can eafily difcern; That the Chronologer will no where find fuch memorable Events, for fixing his Æras; nor fuch early and fabstantial Aids, for computing his Time; as from the Mosaic Monuments, and the facred Annals.

From the Beginning of the World to the Flood, we have an orderly Gradation of Time, marked out by the Lives of ten eminent Patriarchs.—From the Flood, we may proceed to that glorious Promife of a Redeemer, made to Abrabam; In thy Seed shall all the Nations of the Earth be bleffed.—From this Promife, to the miraculous Deliverance of the Ifraelites from Egyptian Bondage.—From thence, to the Building of Solomon's Temple; which was an illustrious Type of that divine Person.

Gen. xxii. 18: John ii. 21,

Person, in whom dwells all the Fulness of the Godbead bodily.—From the Building of this magnificent Structure, to the Demolition of it by the Babylonian Monarch.—From thence, to the Conquest of Babylon by Cyrus the Persian.—And from the Reign of Cyrus, to that grand, that most important of all Transactions, the Death of Messiah the Prince: when He sinished the Transgression, and made an end of Sins, and made Reconciliation for Iniquity, and brought in everlasting Righteousness.

The intermediate Space, between each of these very distinguished Periods, may, I believe, be ascertained, to a considerable Degree of Exactness, from the facred Volumes. If so, this will constitute a more comprehensive and perfect System of Chronology, than can be derived from the Olympiads of the Grecians, or the Hegira of the Mahometans; from the Persian, the Roman, or any other Epocha.

But the History of the Old Testament is much more necessary to be known, and much more easy to be understood. Yet this, my Lord suggests, is not a complete History of the first Ages. We allow the Suggestion. It neither is, nor has Materials terials for, a complete universal History, It pretends to nothing more, than to relate the Affairs of one particular Family; in which the Church of GOD was to fublift, and from which the SAVIOUR of Men was to fpring. Neverthelefs, fo many collateral Incidents are touched upon; fo many Branches of this main Stream are occasionally purfued; as prefent Us with a Collection of the most ancient, the most curious, and most instructive Facts.

^{*} Dan. ix. 24. * Pag. 83.

Here, we are brought acquainted with the Creation of the World, and the Formation of Man. The Origin of Evil, both natural and moral, is discovered in the Fall of our first Parents; and the Displeafure of GOD against Sin is manifested, by the Waters of a general Deluge. --- Here, we fee the Prefervation of our Species in the Ark, and Re-peopling of the Earth by Noab; the Invention of polite Arts," and the Rife of ufeful Manufactures; b the Establishment of Nations, and the Founders of their principal Kingdoms. Not to add; that these Records are the royal

Archives,

^{*} Gen. iv. 21. b Gen. iv. 20, 22. Gen. Chap. x. Which, though but little adverted to, is the noblest Piece of geographical Antiquity, extant in the World. It thews Us, how the whole Earth, from the three Sons of Noab, was overspread, inhabited, Archives, in which, the Charter of our Sovereignty a over the Creatures, is preferved; and the original Draught of the Covenant of Grace, deposited.—Here then, may we not challenge any, or all the Books, written in every Language under Heaven? What Memoirs go so far back into Antiquity? What Memoirs are so interesting to all Mankind?—Had they been transmitted to us by any Grecian or Roman Author, how would they have been admired and valued! How lavishly, and indeed how justly, praised!

Another Excellency of these Writings (and peculiar to these alone) is, That they not only reach backward, as far as the very Birth of Things; but proceed forwards, even into the remotest Futurity.—

They foretold the Ruin of Babylon, the noblest, the best fortisted, and most commodiously situated, Metropolis in the Universe. Who said, and no one would have suspected it to be a vain Boast, I shall be a Lady for ever. Yet, the Scriptures pronounced her utter Destruction; and

fpeci-

bited, and denominated. It discovers the true Source of the several Nations; about which, profane Anthors either say nothing at all, or else say what is chimerical, precarious, false.

^a Gen. i. 28. ^b Gen. iii. 15. ^c Isaiah xiii. 19, &c. xvi. 23, 24. ^d Isaiah xiii. 7. ^e Isaiah xiii. 19, 20, &c. Isaiah xvi. 23, 24. fpecified the Person, who shouldbring about this great Catastrophe.—They pointed out the Place of his Abode. They described him, by several distinguishing Circumstances. They particularized the Genius of his warlike Enterprizes.

They

4 Haiah xivi. 11.

b That He should befiege and take the most impregnable of Cities, Isaiah xlv. 1, 2, — That He should enrich himself with immense Spoils, Isaiah xlv. 3.— That He should not be a Tyrant, but a Shepherd to the captive Jews; should release them from their Captivity, and both permit and promote the Rebuilding of their Temple, Ifaiah xliv. 28.

He is called a rawenous Bird, Ifaiah xlvi. 11. Denoting his Speed, Activity, and great Expedition. Which were more like the Flight of a fwift-winged Bird, (this is the exact Sense of the original toty) than the March of an Army with all its Encumbrances. This is acknowledged by Tigranes, in his fine expostulatory Discourse with Cyrus: Tayer de rocures wigneyou αυτα, ωτε πορραθει εβθασας ελθών σύν πολλω τολω, πρικ Tieles The was saute durague absolutables. You fo far exceed the King of Armenia in the Saviftness of your Motions, that, before He could get together the few Forces quartered in bis Neighbourhood, you are come from a diffant Country, and bave surrounded Him with a large Army. Xenoph. Cyro-peed. Lib. III -Thui Alexander, whose Marches and whose Victories were almost incredibly fwift, is beautifully and exactly characterized by the Prophet Daniel. As I was considering, behold! an Hegeat came from the West on the Face of the whole Earth, and touched not the Ground. Chap. viii. 5. No Orater, with all the Powers of Language, could more beautifully have described the Rapidity and the Extent of the Macedonian Conquests. Nor could any Historian, though writing after the Accomplishment of the Events, have described them more exactly.

They mentioned his very Name.*—All this, fome Hundreds of Years, before the Event took Place, or the Conqueror was born.

They foretold the Rejection and Calamities of the disobedient Jews; who are the chief Subject of their Hiftory. (And this, furely, could not be with a View to aggrandize their Nation, or to answer any finister Design.) That they should be subdued by their Enemies, lofe the Favour of their GOD, and the Possession of their native Land. Yet not be fettled, as a Colony, in fome particular Tract of the Victor's Dominions, but be feattered abroad under the whole Heavens. - This was threatened by their JEHOVAH,this is recorded in their Books, - and this is, even now, fo remarkably fulfilled, as to be a Fact of the utmost Notoriety. Go into the most polite or most barbarous Countries, the nearest or most distant Parts of the World; you will, every where, find living Evidences of this fcriptural Prediction.

The Scriptures speak in the most explicit and peremptory Terms, with regard to the ^{*} Ifaiah xliv. 28. xlv. 1.

Dent. xxviii. 64. Amos ix. 9.

the Restoration of the Yews."- This Reftoration could not be effected, at least could not be observed, if they had been blended and incorporated with the Inhabitants of other Climes. Therefore, to be a presumptive Proof of its Accomplishment; and to render it, when accomplished, the most observable of all Revolutions; they have subfifted a distinct People, amidst all the Regions, whither they have been driven .- A most fingular and aftonishing Circumstance! How foon were the Danes, the Saxons, and the Normans, mingled with the Britons! And how en-^{*} Ezek. xi. 17. Amos ix. 14, 15. Zechar. xiv. 10, 11. I have not ventured to determine, whether this Reftoration of the Jews, is to be understood of a Return to their own Country, or of their Conversion to the Faith of CHRIST. Though I think, the latter is the Meaning of the Holy Spirit; will be no less wonderful than the former; and feems to be supported by fuch Paffages as the following .- They shall look on ME, whom they have pierced, and mourn. The Gift of Repentance, not the Circumstance of Place, is the material Point, Zech. xiii. 10 .- When it fall turn, not the Tribes of Ifrael to Jerusalem, but the Heart of the Ifraelites to the LORD, 2 Corinth. iii. 16 .- Then all Ifrael feall be faved. Rom. xi. 26. shall be made Partakers of the Gospel, of its facted Priviledges, and its great Salvation. In which they will enjoy all, more than all the Bleffings, which Canaan could afford. Of which, that goodly Land, in its utmost Fertility, Affluence, and Glory, was but a Type.

tirely are they all melted down and loft, among the natives of our Isle! But the Jews, like a Drop of Oil on the Water, have continued a feparate Community; and, though dispersed into all Nations, are not, through the long Course of seventeen hundred Years, embedied with any.—This is such a Peculiarity in the Dispensations of Providence, as I can never sufficiently admire: and is, I think, an undeniable voucher to the Authenticity of the Scriptures; held forth, as it were by the Hand of Omnipotence, in the Sight of all the World.

Such Events the antient Scriptures foretell, and fuch Facts they relate. Facts of incomparable Grandeur, and Events of the greatest Importance. All which are delivered in such a majestic Simplicity of Style, as nothing can equal but their precise Veracity.—Yet these Books Lord Bolingbroke disparages; and, at the same Time, extols the writings of Tacitus.—The Remains of Tacitus, He tells us, "are precious Re"mains." Those of the Holy Scripture, "are dark and imperfect Accounts." In Tacitus, "History preserves her Integrity and "her Lustre." In the Holy Scripture, inC stead

[·] Pag. 161. b Pag. 108. · Pag. 161.

ftead of History, you have "an Heap of "Fables; which can pretend to nothing. "but some inscrutable Truths, and there- fore useless to Mankind." ——Every Line of Tacitus has Weight, and cannot be mentioned without Admiration. Whereas, the facred History is put upon a Level with the Extravagancies of Amadis of Gaul; and "can never gain sufficient Credit from any reasonable Man."

Who is this uncircumeifed Philistine, said David, that He should defy the Armies of the living GOD? And who is this Tacitus, would I ask, this darling Author, that He should be raised to the Skies, while the divine Historians are trodden to the Dust?——If your Ladyship is un-acquainted with his Character, let me give it in the Words of a most elegant and masterly Critic.

Pag. 121. Pag. 161. Pag. 121.
Pag. 118.——If, in the Pages I have referred to, and the Sentences I have quoted, my Lord does not aim at the Seriptural Records, I shall very willingly, nay, most glads, acknowledge myself mistaken. To me, after a repeated and attentive Perusal of the Passages, He appears to mean those, and those principally. He means, according to his own Profession, such antient History as He had been describing (See Pag. 118): and I am very sure, the principal Subject of the preceding Sheets, was the sacred.—But why should not his Lordship speak his Sentiments plainly? Is it for Want of Ingenuity? Or owing to Dissidence in the Cusse?

h r Samuel xvii. 26.

Critic. " Having confidered the principal " Oualities of Tacitus as a Writer and an " Historian ; I cannot help thinking, " that there is a false sublime and Affectation in his Description: a Scurrility " and fatyrical Vein, with too Epigram-" matical a Concifeness in his Wit : an " Acuteness, but too speculative, and a 55 Policy over refined in his Observations; " a malignant and ill-natur'd Turn in his " Characters; a Philosophy too abstracted 44 and elevated in his Reasoners, and a " Vanity in his Learning. In fhort, that " He is in Antiquity a Pedant; in the " Philosophy of Nature a Sceptic; in " Morals loofe; in Description gaudy and pompous; in Politics fubdolous, re-" fined and knavish."

Yet this is the Writer, that must be placed in such great Superiority to Moses, Joshua, and Samuel. This the History (rise Criticism, and resent the Indignity!) that is spoken of with Applause and Rapture, even while the sacred Annals are treated with Disrespect and Obloquy.

2

The Treatife, which furnishes me with this Extract, is written by Mr. Hunter; is entitled Observations on Tacitus; and, if my Reader has not perused them, I dare venture to affure Him, that He has one of the bigbest Entertainments in polite Literature yet to come. See pag. 184,

I might recount the glorious Privileges, exhibited in this bleffed Book; the ineftimal Promifes, made to the Righteous; the tenderly compaffionate Invitations, addrefsed to Sinners; the refined and exalted Difplays of Morality; with many other noble Particulars—which it is the Prerogative of Scripture, to contain—the Wifedom of Mankind, to believe—and the only Felicity of our Nature, to be interested in them, and influenced by them.

But my Lord is ready to agree on these Topics. He expresses, in some Places at least, no Dislike of the dostrinal and prophetical Parts. Nay, He has contrived an Expedient, to rescue them from the Dishonour, which He would bring upon the bistorical. He allows the former, to be written under the Inspiration of the holy and un-erring Spirit. The latter, He assistant and understant of the holy and understant of the purely human, and therefore fallible. " "——Proceeding upon this Supposition, He scruples not to represent them, as the Devices of Crast, or the Blunders of Ignorance."

* Pag. 96.

That this is no aggravated Imputation, every attentive Reader of his Lordhip's Letters will easily perceive: and I believe, it will appear too plainly from the Paffages, to be produced in the Sequel of this Epifile.

I must beg Leave to observe, that such a Distinction is without the least Ground of Reality, to support it: and would, if admitted, be an effectual method to fubvert the Whole of Revelation. For, if it could be proved, that the Authors of this Hiftory were fo weak, as to fall into palpable Errors, where a common Degree of Sagacity would have fecured them from miftaking: or, if they were fo treacherous, as to palm upon the World a multiplicity of Forgeries; fo impious, as to afcribe their Falfehoods to the GOD of Truth: this would at once ruin their Character as Men, and destroy their Credit as Writers. At this rate, who could depend upon their Testimony in any Point whatever?

Besides; many of the doctrinal Parts of Scripture refer to, and are derived from, the historical. If the latter were a Parcel of Impositions and Mistakes, what Degree of Veracity or Dignity could the former claim? If the Foundation is a Bubble, how can the Superstructure stand?——Whether his Lordship, by such a specious Pretence of ferving the Interests of true Religion, intended secretly to undermine it, I will not presume to say. But this I may venture to declare, that his Scheme is very shrewdly calculated to compass such an End. Grant what his Lordship asks; and what all the

the Enemies of Christianity wish, will unavoidably follow.

Farther, Madam-Such a Diffinction is contrary to the express Declaration of the new Testament: which positively asferts, that ALL Scripture is given by Infpiration of GOD. "-Our bleffed LORD, who was very well qualified to difcern Truth, and equally zealous to maintain it, makes no fuch Difference. He fays in general, Search the Scriptures; " the whole Collection of facred Writings .- Whatfoever Things, adds St. Paul, not fome particular Paffages only, but WHATSOEVER THINGS were written afore-time, were written for our Learning. And must therefore have been under fuch a divine Super-intendency, as fecured them from all Poffibility of Error. Otherwife, they might be written, not for our Learning, but for our Deception .- So that St. Paul's Direction. is as contrary to Lord Bolingbroke's Distinction, as the East is opposite to the West. We may as foon bring those two Points of the Hemisphere together; as reconcile his Lordship's Refinements, with the Apostle's Religion.

I believe, it will be equally difficult, to render his Lordship confistent with Himfelf.

[&]quot; 2 Tim. iii. 16. " John, v. 39.

Romans xv. 4.

felf. His Concession overthrows his Distinction. Admitting the doctrinal Parts of the Scripture to be true, the Veracity of the historical is, by necessary Consequence, and beyond all Contradiction, established. They are indissolubly connected: they mutually bear on, and mutually sustain each other: and must stand or fall together. They are like an Arch most exactly sinished; not a Stone of which can be taken away, without disconcerting the whole Structure: and like an Arch, sirmly sounded, as well as correctly sinished, the more they are pressed, the stronger they will appear.

My Lord fays indeed, That "CHRIST came not to confecrate all the written Traditions of the Jews." He Jays it, but where or how does He prove it?——By written Traditions of the Jews, I suppose, we are to understand all the Hebrew Scriptures. The Drift of the Discourse, leads us to this Sense. Now it is apparent, that our Saviour has actually confecrated, has set the Seal of Authenticity and Infallibility to the Law of Moses, to the Psalms, and to the Prophets. By appealing to them as decisive, and by allowing them to be predictive, He has acknowledged them to be divinely inspired; to be unquestionably true. And a very little Acquaintance with Jewish Antiquities will inform us; that, in these three Partitions, the whole Body of the Hebrew Scriptures is comprehended.

—What then becomes of his Lordship's Affertion? Or to whose Discredit does it tend? That of the Jewish Scriptures, or that of bis own Knowledge?

I must defire your Ladyship to take Notice of the Expression in this Passage. It is fomewhat fingular, and deferves a particular Regard. Written Traditions is the Every one knows, that we explode, and very juftly, those fuperstitious Whimfies of the Jews, which pass under the Denomination of Traditions. my Lord thinks proper, to call the Hiftories of the Old Testament, by this difreputable Name: only He admits one Difference, that whereas the former were transmitted by Strength of Memory, the latter are committed to Writing .- But is this an bonest Representation? Is this free from all malignant Difguise?

Let us put the Matter to the following Trial. The word Legend, when applied to any modern Story, raises the same contemptible and absurd Idea, as the word Tradition excites, when applied to any Jewish Notion.

Notion. Would my Lord, or would his Friends think, that due Honour or common Justice was done; to his Sketch of the History and State of Europe; if it should be ftyled in our public Papers, Lord Bolingbroke's written Legends? - The Impropriety and the Malevolence of fuch a Title. would be undeniable and odious? Who then can vindicate the Propriety of his Lordship's Language, or clear it from being a most injurious Mis-representation of the facred Records? Which, however fome of the Facts might come down, in a traditionary Channel, to the Writers; by paffing through their Hands, receive the Stamp of undoubted Certainty; and are no longer Traditions; but Oracles.

I wish, this had been the only Instance of Artifice and Imposition; used in the Letters under Examination. Why are so many idle Tales, and scandalous Stories, raked together, and exposed to View? ——Why? but to put a Cheat upon the in-attentive Reader; and depretiate be the Degnity

* See pag. 85, 86, 88. 102. 108, 109.

I would by no means indulge a petulant or cenforious Humour. Yet I cannot forbear thinking, that the Scriptures are too often depretiated in his Lordship's Performance: fometimes by Sneer: fometimes by Cavil: and fometimes even by languid Approbation, or a counterfeit fort of Praise. Such as

Dignity of the divine Word? Depretiate it. much in the fame manner, as its most illustrious Object and Author was formerly difhonoured; not only by the false Accusations, with which He was charged; but also by the infamous Company, with whom He was numbered. - Did my Lord imagine, that these Tales were really believed, even by the warmest Advocates for Holy Writ? No: He must know in his Confcience, that they never were received by the Generality of Divines; neither are mentioned by Authors of Difcernment, unless it be to confute and reject them. - However, be they credited or not, it was apprehended, they might ferve a Purpose. But whether it be the Purpose ben and of

"If the Foundations of Christianity have been laid in Truth." Pag. 123. — "Passages which feem favourable to the Doctrine of the Trimity." Pag. 98. — Though I should be loth to reject any Telimony, in Favour of Christianity: still more loth to give up so eminent a name as Lord B——e, to the destical Party: yet I cannot prevail upon myself to acknowledge, that we are much, if at all obliged to Him, for these poor, jejune, cold Compliments. Such a Testimony and such Compliments, are just as serviceable to the Eater, or a Fost out of Joynt to the Walker. Prov. xxv. 19. They are, in Truth, mere dega adaga — or, as Mr. Pope more strongly expresses the Sentiment; of Integrity, Impartiality, and Truth, I leave to the Determination of others.

They damn with faint Praise.

Still it is urged, That these Scriptures are " full of Additions, Interpolations, " and Transpositions." - That they are full of Additions, is more eafily afferted, than evinced. I can find but one Instance. specified by his Lordship. Which is the Account " of the Death and Sepulture of " Moses, with a fort of funeral Panegy-" ric," e recorded in the last Chapter of Deuteronomy. Here, it is taken for granted, that we are reduced to a terrible Dilemma either to own, that this Paragraph was written by Moses bimself; and then we may expect to hear of Impoffibility and Abfurdity-or elfe, that it is all supposititious; and then the Scriptures must have passed through tampering Fingers, and fuffered Adulteration? -But fuppose this small Appendix was made by Joshua: a Man, whose Mind was illuminated, and his Hand guided, by the Spirit of the most High? Does fuch an Addition deferve to be branded with an ignominious, or even brought into Difesteem by a suspicious Character? --- Or, what if fome other Prophet, whose Name is unknown, distributed by D 2 fuperfuper-added this valuable Anecdote? Is the Concealment of the Penman's Name fufficient, to impeach the Genuineness, on invalidate the Authority, of the Passage? Especially, since it has been approved by other inspired Writers, and received the Imprimatur of the Holy Ghost?——I know not who is the Printer of his Lordship's two Volumes; yet, though ignorant of this Circumstance, for other very satisfallory Reasons, I have no Doubt but they are the genuine Productions of his Pen.

Fpag. 95, 96.

^{6. 4} pag. 102.

- My Lord would have done well to confider-Whether it was a probable or a practicable Thing, to interpolate a fet of Books, which were fludied with fo much Accuracy, and kept with fo much Vigilance. The Number of whose Verses, especially in the Pentateuch, was computed; and the Arrangement of the very Letters known. Whether, after the Coming of Christ, the jealous Eye which the Jews and Christians had on each other, was not an unfurmountable Bar against any Innovations or material Alterations. - As for Transpositions, they are used by the most approved Historians. When used with Judgment, they redound to the Reputation of the Writer, and encrease the Pleasure of the Reader. And would his Lordship make that a Disparagement of the facred Narrative,

Narrative, which is a Recommendation of any ordinary Composition?

But my Lord imagines, that He has found out a substantial Reason for the aforementioned Distinction—has detected such Improprieties in the sacred Narrative, as "contradict all our Notions of Order and of Justice." He produces, by way of Specimen, the Case of Noah, denouncing a Curse upon Canaan.—This, it seems, is the capital Absurdity; this the glaring Error; which, He concludes, is sufficient to un-canonize the Histories of the old Testament, and degrade their Writers from the Class of Inspiration.—This therefore, if your Ladyship pleases, we will examine a little more particularly.

The Charge in general is thus expressed.

"One is tempted to think, that the Patri"arch was still drunk; and that no Man
"in his Senses, could hold such Language,
"or pass such a Sentence."——Was I at Leisure to criticise upon Words, I should be tempted to observe, that the Diction
"no Man could bold such Language," may be French, but is scarcely English. However, from the Expression I pass to e pag. 110.

the Sentiment. - This, for Candour and Solidity, is much like the Reflection of the Jews, on the memorable Day of Pentecost. When the Apostles addressed the Inhabitants of various Countries, each in his own native Tongue; fome of their Hearers ascribed this miraculous Abilityto what? we are amazed, when we read -to the intoxicating Power of Wine. Strange! that excessive Drinking, which incapacitates other People for talking common Sense, should enable the Disciples of CHRIST to fpeak all Kinds of Languages!---Is it not equally ftrange, that a drunken Diforder should enable the Patriarch to deliver Prophecies, and foretell future Events? Which (as I hope to prove) was the real Import of the Speech.

Perhaps, this Curse may seem to be the Effect, if not of disorderly Indulgence, yet of intemperate Passion. And how incompatible is this, with the Character of a Preacher of Righteousness? Surely Noab should not have been so forward, to call for the Thunderbolts of Vengeance. Any benevolent Man, much more a pious Progenitor, would rather have deprecated the Blow.——I wonder, his Lordship did not start this Objection. Which would have been

f Acts. ii. 13.

been much more plaufible, and much less shocking. To this, in Case it had been flarted, we might reply ; - That Noab acted as the Oracle of GOD. This and many other fuch Paffages, which feem to be Imprecations, are really Predictions. Holy Men spoke, as they were influenced by the Spirit; and uttered, not the Suggestions of their own Minds, but the Will of Almighty GOD .- Which inclines me to think, it might be no less proper, and much more fuitable to the prophetic Style, if we translated such Passages, as Indicatives, rather than Imperatives; making them declaratory of what is decreed in the Cabinet of Heaven, and will as certainly take Place, as if it already existed. Cursed is, rather than be, Canaan. Bleffed of the LORD is, instead of be, his Land. Deut. xxxiii. 13. Thus Isaiab, foretelling the Incarnation of that wonderful and adorable Person, whom He styles The mighty GOD, fays, To us a Child is born. E So, calling the Things that are not, as though they were. -Such a Manner of speaking, would remove from this particular Paffage, all that founds barfb, or feems uncharitable : and would, in the general, impart an unequalled equalled Majesty to the Language of Scripture.

It was GOD then; and not Man, from whom this avenging Sentence came. And GOD, to shew his utter Detestation of all Iniquity; to manifest his fingular Delight in all Virtue; frequently takes Occasion to denounce Vengeance, or promife Happinefs, when fome notorious Evil is committed, or some laudable Good performed, And was there not a most notorious Evil committed Here? -- Charity, fays the Apostle; coveretb all Things: 1 draws a Veil over the various Infirmities of every common Neighbour. But this Man (Man shall I say? rather Monster of Ingratitude) fees the Shame of a Father -- an aged Father, -- a pious Father; and instead of concealing, when He cometh forth, He tell-h Bleffed be; is what any holy Perfor might fay, and comprehends no more than a fupplicatory Benediction. Bleffed is, fuits only the Mouth of a Prophet, and implies a patholication Bleffer.

k Levit. xix. 32.

and implies an authoritative Bleffing:

1 Corinth: xiii. 7: mails gryn. This is one Article in the finest Dliplay of focial Virtue, that ever was exhibited to the World. And should, I think, be translated (not beareth, but) covereth or concealeth all Things. The natural Import of the Word justifies, and the Context evidently requires; this Sense. Otherwise, the first and last Clauses of the Verse, will co-incide in their Meaning; or rather make an un-meaning Tautology.

fligates, that make a Mock at Sin. What Name then can be badenough, for a profane and un-natural Wretch; who makes Sport with a Parent's Folly, a Parent's Sinfulness, a Parent's Milery? ——Surely this was a most flagrant Violation of filial Reverence, filial Love, and filial Duty. Which not only implied so many particular Offences, each attended with its respective Guilt, but indicated the Offender to be destitute of all Piety. For, to argue in the Apostle's Strain; How could this Man venerate a Father in Heaven, whom He had not feen? If he was so irreverent to a Father on Earth, whom He had seen?

I The Turpitude and Immorality of this Offence, will appear in blacker Colours, if we consider the very peculiar Reverence; which, in those Days of primitive Simplicity, was paid to any aged Person, much more to an aged Parant.

Credebant bor grande nefat, & Morte piandum Si Juvenis Vetulo non affairement, & fi Barbato cuicunque Puer. Juven. Satyr. XIII.

We may fee, from that awful Threatning, Prov. xxx. 17. with what extreme Detellation the most holy GOD refents such un-natural Behaviour. The Eye that MOCKETH AT HIS FATHER, and despiteth to obe, his Mother, the Ravent of the Valley shall yiek it out, and the young Eagle shall eat it. Nay, it should seem from this Text, as though all Nature was ready to testify its Abhorrence of such a Crime; and, rather than it should escape condign Punishment, the most insensible Animals would rife up to execute Vengeance.

But supposing the Turpitude and Immorality of the Action to be very enormous, and such as deserved some signal Vengeance: the Vengeance, it is objected, was misapplied. For, "Ham alone offended: Canaan was innocent.".—My Lord is not sure, that Canaan was innocent; though He afferts it pretty considently. The contrary Notion has obtained among the Jews. They apprehend, that Canaan was first in the Transgression; and, instead of being reproved, was imitated by his Father. Bisshop Patrick, Mr. Pool, and other eminent Commentators, think this to be no improbable Opinion.

If his Lordship was un-acquainted with the Hebrew, He will scarcely be thought qualified to pronounce so peremptorily, concerning a Case related in that Language. If He was acquainted with the Original, He acts somewhat unfairly in saying; "This Notion is not only "with- out, but against the express Autho- rity of the Text." For He must know, that it receives some Countenance even from the Text itself. I would by no means

⁼ pag. 111.

means offend your Ladyship's Eyes, with any rugged Figures, or uncouth Quotations. But you may venture to believe me, when I assure you, That the most exact Translation of Verse 24th is, Noah knew what his Son had done to Him, the or that little one. Ham could not so properly be styled The little one; since He was the middlemost, and is always placed in that Order: Shem, Ham, Japheth. But the Description agrees perfectly well with Canaan, the Grandson of Noah: and it was customary among the Jews, to call the Grandschildren, the Sons of their Grand-Father.

Canaan, it is added "was alone cursed."
—The Words would run smoother, if transposed in this manner, Canaan alone was cursed. As for the Fast, that wants some better Confirmation, than my Lord's bare Assertion. To me it is evident, that Ham was not exempted from the Curse.

E 2 What?

appinged, in the Courte of Pro-

Though it would have been very unpolite, to quote Hebrew in writing to a Lady: it may be judged proper, perhaps be thought necessary, now the Letter is made public, to produce the original Expression. That, where an Argument is derived from the precise Signification of the Phrase, the learned Reader may examine and determine for Himself. [1977] 127 Gen. ix. 24. The word prop is used of Benjamin Jacob's youngest Son, and translated a little one Gen. xliv. 20.

[·] Gen. xxix. 5, 1 Chron. i. 17.

What? If it did not fall upon Him in Person? yet, to be punished in his Off-fpring, must be very affecting, and no less afflitting.

But hold-my Lord has forestalled us in this Reply. Instead of waiting for it, or acquiescing in it; He plays it upon us, with an Air of Triumph. " Will it " be faid-this has been faid-That " Ham was punished in his Posterity." * --- It has : and with his Lordship's Leave, I will venture to fay it again. Nor should I, in case Lord Bolingbroke was alive, have went farther than bis own Breaft, for a Proof of my Affertion. Would He, with all his exalted Ideas of Liberty, have thought it no Punishment on Himself, provided He had been the Father of Children, to have hear'd them doomed to a State of Slavery; nay, to be, as He very rightly explains the facred Phrase, " the vilest and worst of Slaves ?" ____ Especially if, like Ham, He was appointed, in the Course of Providence, to be the Father of feveral Nations? - And if the Doom had been pronounced by a Person, of whose prophetic Spirit there was so incontestable an Evidence, as the univerfal Inundation was of Noab's ?

form tide to a Change of the

- Since my Lord has no more Communication with us or our Affairs, I appeal to any, to every parental Heart. Let Nature-fond, compaffionate, yearning Nature fpeak --- Whether the Infliction of fuch a Penalty on the Son, (perhaps, a favourite Son, like Joseph) the Son's Sons. and the latest Posterity --- Whether this be not properly a Punishment of the Father? Whether the Father must not feel by Anticipation, what his wretched Progeny must endure in Reality?- Nature once fpoke to fuch a Query, and this was her Language: O my Son Abfalom! my Son, my Son Abfalom! Would GOD I had died for Thee! O Abfalom my Son, my Son ! Did Hiftory ever record, or Poetry ever invent, fo melancholy a Moan? It breathes the very Soul of Woe; and exemplifies the Sentiment, which his Lordship would explode.

David, it is plain, was punished in the calamitous Exit of this young Prince; in the Disasters sustained, and the Disorders committed, by his other Children. Adam thought Himself punished in the Ruin which He brought upon the human Race; and laments it, in the most pathetic Terms, as the severest Distress attending his Apostacy.

³ z Sam. xviii. 33. ² Sam. xii. 10.

facy. " -- One wifer than Adam, One greater than David, whose Judgment is always according to Truth, is evidently of the fame Opinion: and, for that Reafon, has formed the Sanction of a most facred Commandment, upon this very Principle; He will visit the Iniquities of the Fathers. upon the Children, unto the third and fourth Generation of them that hate Him .--What GOD has so expresly threatened, He has actually done: not on this only, but on various other Emergencies. Thus Efau fuffered in his Descendants; " Yebu in his Family, and Hezekiab in his Children. Who all, like the Canaanites, were Children of their Father's Difobedience: h Inheritors of their Sin, as well as of their Name.

-But

d See the whole of Adam's difconfolate Complaint; Part of which are the following Lines.

The mifery; I defero'd it, and would bear
My own Defervings: but this will not ferve.
All that I eat, or drink, or fhall beget
Is propagated Curfe. O Voice I once hear'd
Delightfully, Increase and Multiply;
Now Death to heat!

Parad. Loft. Book x. 725.

e Compare Gen. xxvii. 40. with 2 Sam. viii. 14. Thou finalt ferve thy Brother: Here, is the Sentence. All they of Edom became David's Servants: Here, its Execution.

Hosea i. 4.

E Ifai. xxxix. 6, 7.

h Morum queque Filii.

But this would anticipate the Reply to another Objection.

Where is the Equity of curfing a People, that are yet unborn? Does not this " contradict all our Notions of Order and " of Justice?"-It may be contrary to our Notions, at least it would be unjustifiable in our Practice. But is quite otherwife, with regard to the all-feeing GOD. Is it not agreeable to the strictest Rules of Justice, for a Magistrate, when He has heard the Witnesses, fummed up the Evidence, and found the Prifoner guilty-Is it not agreeable to the strictest Rules of Justice, to pass Sentence upon such a Criminal? The Question can admit of no Doubt. Yet it is equally certain, that this was the very Cafe, with Reference to the fupreme Judge, and those Sinners the Canaanites .- They practiced the groffest and most inhuman Idolatries. They abandoned themselves to the most horrid Immoralities; fuch as violated Nature; confounded all Order; and fuch as it would be shocking even to mention. '-- Now all these provoking Crimes, were present to the View of HIM, by whose Inspiration Noab spake. He saw them with the same circumstantial Exactness, as if they Levit. xviii. 24.

had been already perpetrated. Let us take these very important Particulars into Consideration, the excessive Wickedness of those Nations, and the all-foreseeing Discernment of JEHOVAH, and then who will dare to infinuate? That the everlafting Sovereign acted unjuftly. That He launched the Lightenings of his Indignation, in an arbitrary manner, or upon an innocent People. Who will be fo precipitate, as to affirm with my Lord ? That " no other Writer but a Jew, could imof pute to the Economy of divine Provi-« dence the Accomplishment of such a " Prediction; nor make the supreme Bese ing the Executor of fuch a Curfe." .

The former of those Circumstances will fet in a proper Light, what his Lordship calls, " the Cruelties committed by Josbua in the Conquest of the Canaanites." It will make them appear to be acts of righteous Vengeance; a much needed and most defirable Extirpation of a peftilent People: altogether as serviceable to the Public, as it was formerly, to destroy the Wolves from our Island; or as it is, at present, to deliver over some flagitious Malefactors to the Sentence of the Law. Yet the Execution of this Vengeance was delayed, Year after Year, Century after Century. The feed of Abraham, for feveral Ages, were were not permitted to enter upon the Poffeffion of theirdestined Inheritance; because the Iniquity of the Amorites, which was the Cause of their Extermination, was not yet full, '- Does it then, befpeak the Man of Integrity, to represent those Proceedings of Joshua, under the abborred Image of Cruelties; which were Acts of a Justice, exemplary, falutary, and greatly to be revered. Is it becoming an bonest Inquirer after Truth, to fuggeft, without the leaft Shadow of Proof, a felfish and malignant Reason, for the Destruction of the Canagnites; when a Reason, the most equitable in its Nature, the most beneficial in its Confequences, is expresly and repeatedly affigned by the facred Historian? - This 5 Gen. xv. 16.

Gen. xv. 16. Deut. ix. 5. FOR THE WICK-EDNESS of those Nations, the LORD thy GOD doth drive them out from before Thee.—See also Levit. xviii. 25. Where the facred Writer describes their execrable and un-paralleled Vilenes, by one of the strongest and boldest Figures imaginable. So vile they were, that the very Country loathed them; was weary to bear them; and acted like a disgusted nauseating Stomach, when oppressed with foul and offensive Food: the Land itself womiteth out her Inhabitants.—Let no squamify Critic betray his salfe Taile, and coursest Temper, by carping at the Expression. But let all be assonished at the outragious Impiety of the Camanites; and adore the vindidive Arm of E-HOVAH; and acknowledge, that such horrible Misseans

I refer to your Ladyship's Decision. Who, I am sure, will not err on the uncharitable Extreme. Yet I believe, will find it difficult, with all your Good-nature, to acquit the Author of these Letters from the Charge of Dis-ingenuity.

May I not add? - This Way of foretelling, yet respiting the Punishment, is gracious both in itself, and in its Confequences. ___ In itself: because, a Reprieve is always reckoned an Alleviation of the Sentence, even though it be not the Forerunner of a Pardon. - In its Confequences: because, it afforded large Space for Recollection, and should have awakened the Offenders to a Sense of their Guilt. It should have incited them to use all posfible Diligence to avert the Doom, both by a personal Reformation, and by educating their Families religiously. Why did they not act, as King Abab acted, " and argue as the Men of Nineveb argued; " in a following Age, but on a like Occasion? -Instead of this; instead of betaking themselves to Consideration and Prayer, creants were (not for some Reasons of State, as my Lord is pleased to infinuate, deemed only, but were) really, & on the most substantial Principles of Justice, an occursed Race. Pag. 112.

¹ Kings xxi. 27, 29.

Jonah iii. 9.

to Repentance and Amendment, they ran to the fame, to greater Excess of Ungodliness.

So that these People, being evidently Inheritors of their Father's finful Nature, and obstinately persisting in their Father's sinful Ways, were most deservedly Partakers of his Curfe. And though GOD is that uncontroulable Sovereign, who giveth not, is under no Obligation to give, Account of any of bis Matters; * though He often has Reafons for his Difpenfations, abfolutely unfearchable by any Mortal; yet, Here He is clearly vindicated even before Meneven before the Sinners themselves. They themselves must confess the Justice of their Doom; and own, That GOD bath done righteously, but they have done wickedly. That GOD has flewed all Long-Suffering; and given full Warning, before the Blow fell: Whereas they, notwithstanding this Forbearance and this Admonition, have continued incorrigible; and without any other Change, but that of becoming more confummately vile.

Agreeably to all this, and conformably to the most acknowledged Rules of Equity, it is declared by the facred Historian, That the Amorites, the Descendants of Canaan, suffered not, till they had filled up the Measure of their Iniquities, betheir own, as well as their Father's.——All which, I should imagine, is sufficient, not only to justify the Counsels, but to glorify the Judgments, of the great JEHOVAH, Sufficient also to satisfy any Inquirer, who is (as my Lord very handsomely expresses Himself) "candid but not implicit, willing to be informed yet curious to ex"amine."

My Lord's Curiosity to examine, shall I say? Or his Resolution to be distaissied? proceeds still farther. Accordingly He adds; "who does not see, that the Curse and the Punishment, in this Case, sell on Canaan and his Posterity, exclusively of the rest of the Posterity of Ham?" ——The Particle of, so frequently repeated, in a single Sentence, can hardly be admired as an Elegance of Speech, But, taking no more Notice of such little Blemishes, I shall consider the Weight, not the Polish, of his Lordship's Arguments.

—As for this Argument, I verily think, when

Fag. 110, 112,
This, and one or two preceding Remarks of the fame Nature, are fearcely worth our Notice. Neither fhould I have mentioned them, had they not fell in my gon; and were it not to put a Query upon the popular Notion, That his Lordfhip's Style is so correct, elegant, and when laid in the Ballance of Impartiality and Candour, it will be found wanting. For, admitting the Objection in its full Scope, what follows? Why, that the righteous GOD pardoned fome Criminals, when He might justly punish all. And if it should have pleafed the Supreme Judge, to repeal the Sentence, and remit the Penalty, with regard to fome Offenders, who shall arraign his Conduct? Who shall censure his Providence? To exercise Mercy is his great Prerogative : an Act not of Debt, but of royal Bounty, which He exercises, when and to whom, it feemeth good in his Sight: I will have Mercy on whom I will have Mercy, o is his high and holy Refolve.

I might therefore answer his Lordship's Question, by asking another. Which I might propose, in the plain but folemn Words of our LORD JESUS CHRIST. "If "these are spared, while those are punished, what is that to Thee? Is thine Eye evil, because GOD is good?"—But I shall rather reply to the Objection, by denying and noble, as to be a Standard for fint Writing. It cannot, in my Apprehension, justly claim this Honour, If others think differently, I leave them to enjoy their Opinion; and shall not (though it would be easy enough to multiply Proofs) add a Word more upon the Subject.

⁵ Rom. ix. 16.

nying the Fact. The Punishment was not confined to Canaan and his Posterity. It reached the other Descendants of Ham: Milraim Himfelf, the Father of the Egyptians (as will be fhewn in a proper Place) not excepted. Canaan, 'tis true, is particularly mentioned .- Because, He was (as from this very Circumstance is extremely probable) an Accomplice with Ham, in the Breach of filial Duty. Because, this Branch of the Family was more than ordinarily corrupt, nay, beyond Measure vicious. Because the Canaanites were, in the first Place, and in the fullest Manner, to feel the Effects of the Curfe. - And Mofes, being charged with a Commission to execute the Vengeance on this People only, had no Occasion to concern Himself with any other. Just as the Sheriff of a County, demanding the Body of a condemned Malefactor, produces the dead Warrant for bis Execution; without inter-meddling, or thinking Himfelf under any Necessity to inter-

This is rendered fill more credible, by that Particularity of Style, which the Scripture uses in speaking of Ham. Ham the Futher of Canaan. Gen. ix. 18, 22. Why of Canaan is especially? Had He not other Children, other Sons?—Several other.—But this Distinction seems to be a Brand of Insamy, set upon the Offender; and intimates, that He who was Father of Canaan by Blood, was his Partner, was his Brother in Insiquity.

inter-meddle, with the other Prisoners in the Jayl.—This leads me to a new, and, if I judge right, by far the most important Inquiry; namely, whether the Curse was executed, as well as pronounced.

As I haften to the Proof of this Particular, my Lord embarraffes and retards me with a fresh Obstacle. He Himself has thought proper to inform us, " why the " Posterity of Canaan was to be deemed an " accurfed Race." But He lets the World know; " It is not fo eafy to account, why the Posterity of the righteous Shem, that er great Example of filial Reverence, became Slaves to another Branch of the " Family of Ham, during more that four-" fcore Years." I am by no means convinced, that the Point proposed enters into the Merits of our Caufe. Should the Reasons for this Dispensation remain an impenetrable Secret; yet, if we clear up the Propriety, and demonstrate the Equity, of the Curse denounced; we compass our main End, and confute the grand Cenfure. However, as the Question is presented, it shall be considered : And though his Lordthip should affect to fneer, I chuse rather, in Imitation of those noble Writers, whose Dignity I would affert, to be ferious.

Wby were the Ifraelites Sojourners in Egypt? ----- A Reason occurs, that is worthy of a gracious GOD, and greatly for the public Good. That they might carry thither the Knowledge of the everlafting TEHOVAH, and of the promifed MES-SIAH; of the only acceptable Method of Worship, and the only effectual Way of Salvation .- As Egypt was the Parent of Literature, and the Fountain-Head of Science: as Men of Letters and Curiofity came, from all Parts of the World, to complete their Studies at Egypt: if thefe heavenly Doctrines were received THERE they would be more likely, fome Streams of them at leaft, to be transufed into all Climes, and improve every Nation. So that the People of the LORD, the only Depositaries of divine Philosophy, were fettled in this Land of general Refort, with much the fame wife and beneficent Views. as the ablest Professors of Learning are placed at our famous Univerfities.

ty

ty chaftens whom He loves; and fcourges the Men, whom He receiveth to Himfelf. Even the beathen Claffics, my Lord's favourite Authors, have frequently remarked; That Adverfity is a School, in which both private Persons, and public Societies. have learned the most heroic Virtues .---Befides; this might be intended to animate and inspirit the Ifraelites for their Invasion of Canaan. They were, in the general, a fupine and groveling Set of People. Had they been fettled in a State tolerably eafy. or in Territories that were but moderately commodious; they might never have afpired after the Land flowing with Milk and Honey; never have made any refolute Efforts, to poffess their deftin'd Inheritance. But, being driven by the Laft, and instigated by the Goad, of pungent galling Slavery, they were even conffrained to burst the Chains, and push ther way to Liberty and Canaan. Their insupportable Slavery, was fomewhat like bending the Bow, and ftraining the String, in order to launch the Arrow .- Farther ; GOD Almighty affures and the tank and the state of Abrabam,

¹ Let none imagine, that the Wildom of GOD is impesched, by selecting to Himfelf a People of this Character. His Clemency, his Forbeurance, and all those benign Perfections, which are so necessary for the Salvation of Sinners, are hereby displayed with peculiar Advantage, and to our unspeakable Confolan be the best of G

Abrabam, that his Seed, though enflaved for a while, should come out of their Bondage with great Substance; * with the Silver. the Gold, the Jewels, and the choicest Treasures of Egypt. So that, when labouring for their Task Masters, they were, in Fact, labouring for themselves. The Wealth of the Oppreffors, was laid up for the Oppressed. And the Season of their Affliction in the Enemies Country, was like the rigorous Cold of Winter; which, far from obstructing, only makes Preparation, for the Bloffoms of Spring, and the Fruits of Autumn.-These Considerations might have folved the Difficulty to his Lordship, as a Politician.

Other Reasons are suggested by our Divines; which, if my Lord had thought it worth his while to regard, might have given better Satisfaction, and yielded more Edification. They would have reminded the right honourable Querist—That such a gloomy Aspect of the Jewish Assairs, made way for the brightest Manifestation of GOD's glorious Attributes: of his Power, in refeuing them from their tyrannical Rulers: of his Faithfulness, in sulfilling his Promise, made to their Fathers: of his Goodness, in supporting and conducting them; keeping them, amidst the most formidable Dangers,

Dangers, as the Apple of an Eye; and bearing them, even through the most insuperable Difficulties, as on Eagle's Wings. 1 This alfo opened a most conspicuous Theatre, for that amazing Train of Miracles: which have been, in all Ages, as ferviceable to the Faith of Christians, as they were formerly conducive to the Welfare of the Yews. --- They would farther have informed his Lordship, and have confirmed their Opinion by apostolical Authority; That the Whole of this most wonderful Transaction, was typical of spiritual Things: was a Series of living Lesions; delivered, according to the Eastern method of conveying Knowledge, in Figures and Emblems. The Egyptian Bondage was a Refemblance of our natural Condition; which is a State of the most abject Slavery to Sin .- The arbitrary and injurious Impositions of the Talk-Masters shadow forth, though but faintly, the Tyranny of unruly Appetites, and imperious Passions .- That barbatous Edict for the Destruction of all the infant ^{&#}x27;See Deut. xxxii. to, 11. These, I think, are most delightful and inimitably delicate Representations. Let the pious Critic try, if He can conceive those tender Offices, that un-intermitted Vigilance, and Assiduity of protedling cherishing Cares, which are expressed in these sine Images. For my Part, I own myself incapable of describing them. But most earnessly wish, that every Reader as well as myself, may learn them in that best of Schools, the School of Experience.

infant Males, fitly enough represents the genuine Tendency of carnal and corrupt Affections; which destroy our true Comfort; fubvert our noblest Interests; are as Death to the Joys and to the Hopes of our Souls .- Their Deliverance from that miferable State, was an expressive Sign of our Redemption, from the Guilt and the Dominion of Sin. " Both which the LORD IESUS accomplishes: the one by Price, the other by Power. Not by flaying the first-born, but by shedding his own Blood: not by foftening Rocks into a Stream, but by taking away the Heart of Stone: not by turning the Current of Jordan backward, but by turning all our Defires into a new Channel. The many Troubles and Oppositions they met with in the Wilderness, exhibit a lively Picture of the Molestations

The divine Writer to the Hebrews, makes the Land of Canaan, typical of a better Country, even of an Heavenly. Heb. xi. 16. xii. 22. According to the same Author, the peaceful Settlement of the Israelites in Canaan, suggested to their Thoughts, and pointed out to their Faith, that everlasting Rest which remainesth for the People of GOD. Heb. iii. 4, 5, &c. Since the Terminus ad quem, (as the School men speak) is evidently mystical and allegorical: may we not conclude, that the Terminus a quo is mystical and allegorical likewise? Then it will follow, upon the clearest Principles of Analogy, that the intermediate Steps and Advances are of the same Nature; significative of refined and spiritual Things, under earthly and stepsible Images.—This, if I mistake not, is put beyond all Doubt. 1 Corinth. x. 1, 2. &c. lestations that attend, and the Temptations that affault, the Christian. Trials await Us. Snares are around Us. Through many Conflicts, and much Tribulations We must enter into the Kingdom of Heaven. Only let Us beware, left, like the ungrateful Ifraelites, We forget the GOD of our Salvation, and fall after the fame Example of Unbelief .--The Cloud, that was spread over them by Day, to intercept the Glare, and fcreen them from the Heat of the Sun: The Fire, that shone before them in the Night, to chear the nocturnal Darkness, and lead them through the trackless Defart: were not these very amiable and exact Emblems of our Saviour's Merits, and of his holy Word? The former of which, are refreshing to the guilty Conscience, as the Veil of a thick interpoling Cloud is welcome to a Traveller in fultry Climes. The latter, is a Light to our Feet, and a Lanthern to our Paths, to guide us in the Way everlafting. Their Passage through Fordan, the Priests that bare the Ark of the Covenant going before them, and standing in the midst of the River, till all the Congregation were paffed over: this very emphatically prefigured our great High-Prieft; bearing our Sins; full filling the Law in our Stead; abolifbing Death;

^{*} See Joshua iii. 13, 14. &c.

Death; and making it a fafe as well as thort Transition to Life eternal.

You will excuse me, Madam, for expatiating upon these Topics. They are so inviting, forpleafing, fo comfortable, that I can hardly perfuade myfelf to leave them .-If any other Parts of the Epiftle, through a Kind of unhappy Necessity almost inseparable from Controverfy, should resemble the Afperity of the Thorn; this I hope; will bear fome Affinity to the Fragrance of the Rose. For which Cause it is, that I chuse only to touch, and but lightly touch; the one; while I would open the other, into a full Expansion, and a rich Effusion .-Let me add one more Observation on this Head, and I have done. It is apprehended by very judicious Persons, that the Punishment of the Egyptians, and their total Overthrow, may be a Presage of the Misery and Ruin; which will sooner or later fall upon Individuals and Nations, that reject the glorious Gospel, and vilify its facred Repository THE BIBLE.

If the Reasons I have offered, are neither tiresome, nor un-fatisfactory to your Ladyship, I shall proceed the more chearfully to shew, That the Curse was executed, as well as pronounced.——Had it been the senseless senseless Extravagance of a Man intoxicated with Liquor; or the rash Imprecation of a Man heated with Refentment; or the defigning Interpolation of fome crafty Statefman; would the boly, the gracious, the true GOD have fet the broad Seal of Heaven to it? Would HE, who over-rules all Events, have fuffered it to fucceed-have commanded it to fucceed-nay, have brought it Himself to pass, by a mighty Hand, and ftretched out Arm? Impossible to conceive !- If therefore it was really brought to pass; and with a surprising Punctuality; and not by any Competency of human Means, but by the most evident Display of divine Power: this will be fuch a Proof of its Credibility, its Reasonableness, and Equity, as no One, who thinks reverently of the Deity, can deny.

Canaan was to be Servant to Shem.—
This was accomplished, when the Israelites, the Descendants of Shem, conquered the Land of Canaan; slew thirty of its Kings; and took Possession of their Cities. When the Gibeonites particularly, who composed one of their principal States, became Hewers of Wood, and Drawers of Water, to the Congregation; or, in other Words, the most menial Servants to the lowest of the People.

a Josh. xii. 2, 24.

[·] Josh. x. 2.

By what Infruments was this extraordinary Revolution wrought?—By one of the finest Armies in the East or West? Marshalled by the bravest Officers, and headed by the most experienced General? No: but by a raw, undisciplined, enslaved People. Who were destitute of military Skill; and without any personal Qualifications, or warlike Apparatus for so difficult, so dangerous an Enterprize.

- Through what Obstacles was it begun, carried on, and compleated? ____ In fpite of the Attempts of one potent Monarch, to detain them in Servitude. In spite of the Refolution of feveral combined Kings, to diffrute with them every Inch of Ground, to the last Drop of their Blood. - A deep River, and an Arm of the Sea must be croffed, by fix hundred thousand Men, with their Wives, their Children, their Cattle; and without any Veffel to transport them, or any Bridge to transmit them. - They must dwell, forty Years, in a desolate, inhospitable, barren Wilderness. Which was infelted by ravenous Beafts, and fiery flying Serpents. In which there was neither Water; nor Corn; nor any fort of Accommodation for Abode, or Suftenance for tife to diswell adv or enavoid let

How were all these Difficulties furmaunted?—Not by the Arm of Flesh. This was atterly impracticable. But by the most aftonishing Interpolition of Omnipotence. The Egyptian Tyrant is humbled, and brought to their Terms, by the Inflietion of ten tremendous Plagues .- The Waters of the River are dried up, and the Waves of the great Deep are divided, fo as to yield them a fafe unobstructed a Paffage. A Stream gushes even from the hard Rock; and gives them Drink, as it had been out of the great Depths .- Prodigious Quantities of Manna ' descend, with every Morning-Dew; and supply them, not from the Garner, but from Heaven, with their daily Bread. - Vaft Flights of Quails arrive, with every letting Sun; and drop,

He led them through the Deep, encumbered as they were with their Kneading-Troughs, and furfounded with frightful Billows, as an Horfe in the Wilderness : with as much Eafe and Spirit, as feme couragious Courfer makes his Way through [7] a plain, open, champaign Country. Ifai Ixiii. 13.

We are not to think, that the Manna took its Name, from any Relemblance to the medicinal Drag, which, among us, is so commonly known, and so frequently used. It is rather derived from the abrupe Expression of the Ifraelites, on their first beholding this wonderful Food. They cried out with Amazement, NIT 10 Man Hu? What is this? Which Exclamation, denoting their own Surprise, and the unexpected as well as unparalleled Nature of the Gift, became both a Memorial of the one, and a Denomination of the other. TI THE drop, like a Bird shot through the Wing, in the midst of their Camp, and round about their Habitations.— The Walls of an impregnable City fall to the Ground, at the Blast of Rams-Horns. The Sun stands still in the midst of Heaven, at the Voice of a Man. All the Hosts of the Nations, with all their Weapons of War, are driven afunder as the Foam upon the Waters, and cut off as the Tops of the Ears of Corn.

And is it probable? Can it be possible? That every Element, and all Nature, should not only concur; but alter their established Course; depart from the fundamental Laws of their Creation; on purpose to ratify, what was bolted out by the Patriarch in a drunken

This whole Pfalm is a manifest Proof of the Obfervation, which was made in a preceding Paragraph — That the bifterical and described Passages of Scripture are, like the Deed and its Counter-Part, in their Substance exactly corresponding: and like the several Links of tame Chain, in their Connection absolutely inseparable.

1 Josh. vi. 4 Josh. x. 12, 13.

^{*} This is described with the utmost Vigour and Beauty, in that sublime Piece of sacred Poetry, Psal. Ixxviii. 27, 28. He rained Flesh upon them as Dust, and winged (bere lies a peculiar Emphasis, and thus should the Original hip hip be translated, winged) Fowl like as the Sand of the Sea. Yet, though they were furnished with Wings, and therefore might easily escape, they neglected to make Use of their natural Powers. They fell round the Israelitish Tents, like the Rain from Heaven, which returneth not; and like the Sand of the Shore, which cannot be numbered.

Bulls use true, which inche the drunken Revel, or foisted into the Text by some Hebrew Machiavilian?

Canaan was to be Servant also to 7apheth. - Pursuant to this Prediction, did not the Greeks and Romans, who derive their Lineage from Japheth, make themselves Masters of the Residue of Canaan. Tyre built by the Sidonians, and Thebes by Cadmus, were both destroyed by Alexander the Grecian. Carthage, founded by Dido, was, after a long Succession of Losses, and a vast Effusion of Blood, demolished by Scipia the Roman. Which Loffes made Hannibal, a Child of Canaan, cry out with a Mixture of Aftonishment and Despondency; Agnosco Fortunam Carthaginis! i. e. " " I " fee plainly the Hand of Destiny work-H 2 ing;

Prideaux's Connect. Vol. I. Pag. 479.

Wid, Liv. Lib. xxvii. ad finem.—A Writer of the first Repute, for elegant Taste, and penetrating Judgment, thinks it more than probable, that Hannibal, in this dispirited and hopeless Acknowledgment, refers to the Prophecy under Consideration. Which will justify my free, though I hope, not erroneous Translation of the Passage.—What the same Author adds, is so very ingenious.

ing ; I fee that oracular Doom hasting to its Accomplishment; in these dreadful " Calamities fuffained by Carthage !"

If these Facts are true, which have the unanimous Confent of Historians for their Support, what can we fay of his Lordship's Affertion; " that Canaan was Servant to Shew, though not to Japketh?" This, I ingenious, and to appoint to my Purpose, that I will beg Leave to transcribe it.

That the Romans were no Strangers to the famo

" divine Oracle, appears from Wirgil."

Progeniem Sedenim Trojano a Sanguine duti Audierat, Tyrias olim que versenes Acces: Fline Populum late Regem, Belloque superhum, Venturum Excidio Dibia. Sie volvere Parcas.

In translating which, if we only name the An-" cefters, inffend of the Descendants, the original " Prophecy glares upon us."

From Japheth's Leins deriv'd, a Rate for knew Defien's the Strength of Canaan to Jubdue: Wide-Spread their Empires deflin'd to succeed And wafte the Sous of Ham : So Fate decreed !

See Mr. Ridley's Sermons at Lady Morer's Lecture. Pag. 252.

" The Words at large are, " Canaan became Ser-" vant of Servants to Shem, though not to Japheth, " when the Ifraelites conquered Palefline." Pag. 111. -I must beg Leave to inquire, why the last Clause is added? Is it to prove, that, when the Ifraelites fubdued the Canaanites, the Descendants of Ham were not, by this Victory, made Servants to Japheth's Offam apprehensive, will be found as false, as the following Objection is weak. In which He urges; That "Canaan was Servant to "one of his Uncles, not to his Brethren."

——Such a Cavil (for certainly it deserves no better Name) discovers an utter Ignorance of the Hebrew Phraseology; or else, a strange Inattention to it; I would not say, an egregious Misrepnesentation of it. I thought every one had known, till Lord Bolingbroke undeceived me, That nothing is more common in the oriental letiom, than to express any Relatives of the Male Line, by the Denomination of Brethren."

I hope, your Ladyship will not think this, or any of my other Remarks, indecents.

fpring? If fo, my Lord encounters a Rhantom of his own raifing; and confutes, what no Man afferts.—
Is it to infimate, that, because the Race of Conami were not, at this Time, made Vasfals to the Posterity of Japheth, therefore they never were; and, of Confequence, the Prophecy was elucid? Phis feems to be the Design of the Sentence. Abstracted from this Design, I see not what End it can answer. But this is to draw, from Premises that are true, a Conclusion that is false. And is just as good Logie, as the Libertine's Argument is sound Divinity; "Vengeance is not yet, therefore it never will be, Executed." See 2 Pet. iii. 4.

x Pag. 111.
y See Gen. xiii. 8. Where Abraham and Lot, though Uncle and Nephew, are called Brethren.
Gen. xxiv. 48. Where Bethuel, another of Abraham's Nephews, is styled his Brother.
Gen. xxiv. 27.

cently free. In the Presence of the most High GOD, all Men are upon a Level. When the Honour of his divine Word or glorious Attributes is concerned, We are to know no Man after the Flesh: y pay no deferential Regard to the Diffinctions of Birth, or Elevations of Character. In thele Lifts the Privileges of Peerage cease. And I should reckon myself the most abject of Creatures, if, through Respect of Persons, I could palliate or fecrete the Truth, when the ever-venerable Oracles of Inspiration are treated with Contempt. A Violation of Decency this! by whatever Hand it is offered, or from whatever Quarter it comes, incomparably more flagrant than Scandalum Magnatum.

Pardon, Madam, this Digreffion, and permit me farther to observe——That the Progeny of Ham, in another Line, are, to this very Day, the Slaves of the whole trading World. The Negroes I mean: whose Descent is from that unhappy Man. And what is their Country, but the Market of Slavery? Are not their Persons bought and fold, as the meanest Commodities? Are they not debased to the y 2 Corinth. v. 16.

No lefs than thirty Thousand, I have been informed, are, every Year, bought for Slaves by the English only.

most fordid, and harraffed with the most toilsome Drudgery? made, in the strictly literal Sense of the Phrase, Servants of Servants?

I have not forgotten what I promifed to make appear, with relation to the Egyptians: neither shall I overlook what his Lordship has remonstrated, from the same Quarter. " The Descendants of Mitsraim," He fays, "another of the Sons of Ham, were " the Egyptians: And they were so far se from being Servants of Servants to their coufins the Shemites, that these were " Servants of Servants to them." For a Season, they were. But this Servitude was calculated for the Good of their Community, and redounded to the Glory of their GOD. It terminated in fuch a fignal Deliverance, as brought Honour and Opulence to themselves, Confusion and Ruin to their Enemies. Does it then follow, from this temporary Superiority of the Egyptians, which ended in fo disastrous a manner, that they were excepted in the Denunciation of the Curfe, or favoured with an Act of Indemnity?

Freek, soon, son the age of the 15.

Pag. 112 -228G

31 NY 199

What fays the supreme Arbitrator? The Nation whom they serve, will I judge: I myself will punish; not by any human Instruments, but by my own immediate Hand. Accordingly, they were visited with the most dreadful and destructive Plagues. In the last of which, the Firstborn, the Flower of their Kingdom, were cut off; and at length, their King, and his whole Army, perished in the Red Sea. Does my Lord make no Account of these most terrible and unexampled Judgments?

Besides; what was the Condition of this People in the following Ages? If we confult Ezekiel, He will declare it, as clearly by the Spirit of Prophecy, b as if He had lived on the Spot, and feen the Face of Affairs. And it came to pass in the eleventh Year, in the first Month, in the seventh Day of the Month, that the Word of the LORD came unto me, faying; Son of Man, I have broken the Arm of Pharoah King of Egypt; and lo, it shall not be bound up to be bealed, to put a Roller to bind it, to make it strong to bold the Sword. - I will scatter the Egyptians among the Nations, and will difperfe them through the Countries. - Egypt hall be the basest of Kingdoms, neither shall it exalt itself any more among the Nations. -And ^{*} Gen. xv. 14. Ezek, xxx, 20, 21, 23. xxix. 15. xxx. 13.

And there shall be no more a Prince of the Land of Egypt.—Is not all this confirmed, by antient History, and by the present State of Africa? From the one We learn, That the Egyptians were subject, first to the Persians; next to the Grecians; then to the Romans; afterwards to the Arabs. And from the other it appears, That they now wear the Turkish Yoke: are governed, not by a Prince of their own, but by the Grand Seignor and his Balbaws.

Nay; let any Person look round upon all the Countries, peopled by the Progeny of Ham; and I am much miftaken, if He does not find them, what the Pfalmift defcribes. Dark Places of the Earth, and full of the Habitations of Cruelty: * the Dens of Rapine, and the Dungeons of Ignorance: where Slavery drags the Chain, and Tyramy lifts the Scourge. --- Infomuch, that We need not scruple to fay, in the emphatical Words of Josbua; Not one Thing has failed of all the Good, or the evil Things, which the LORD spake by the Mouth of Noab, concerning each of his Sons respectively. All are come to pass, not one Thing has failed. 5

This calls upon me to clear up another Part of the Prediction.——The Bleffing pro-^{*} Pfal. lxxiv. 20. b Joth. xxiii. 14.

pronounced upon Shem, and the Enlargement promised to Japheth. Which will afford a new Argument, to maintain the Authenticity of the Passage, and affert its divine Inspiration.

I faid, the Bleffing pronounced upon. Because, I would not translate the Words. Bleffed be the LORD GOD of Shem; but, Bleffed of the LORD GOD is Shem. This will put a striking Contrast, between the Doom of the irreligious Scoffer, and the Reward of filial Piety: this is what we naturally expect from a GOD, who is not unrighteous to forget his People, and their Labours of Love: this Sense the original Language will very commodiously bear, " and the Event feems to require. For, how manifestly, how eminently, was this benedictive Sentence fulfilled! Since, in the Posterity of Shem, the Church of GOD was established, and his true Worship propagated. From Him, the Redeemer of Mankind, that Bleffing of Bleffings, according to the Flesh sprung.

The great Enlargement of Japheth's Territories, is no less certain, and no less remarkable.

Gen. ix. 26. ברך יהוה אלהי שם Words of the very fame Import, in the very fame Conftruction, are thus rendered by our Translators, Deut. אאאווו וא and will hardly admit of any other Interpretation: ארצו אובר Blefid OF the LORD &c.

markable. He had, for his Possession, the Isles of the Sea Westward, and the fine extensive Countries near them; Spain, Italy, Greece, Asia the lefs, all Europe, and the vast Regions towards the North; which antiently the Scythians, now the Tartars inhabit; from whom the Americans, the People of the new World, feem to be derived. -By Japheth's dwelling in the Tents of Shem, is meant The Conversion of the European Gentiles, to the Gospel of CHRIST. Who, through a long Progreffion of Years, were Aliens from the Common-Wealth of Ifrael; Strangers to the Covenants. of Promise; having no Hope of eternal Life. and without any faving Knowledge of GOD in the World. 4 But were, in due Time, perfuaded to embrace the true Faith : were made (as the Apostle elegantly speaks, and in a Strain perfectly corresponding with the Language of our Prophecy) Fellow-citizens with the Saints, and of the Housebold of GOD. . An Event, altogether as undeniable, as it is important, delightful, and glorious,

Upon the whole; I cannot but think that his Lordship has planted his Battery, and played his Artillery, if not like an unskilful, at least like an unsuccessful Engi-

⁴ Ephef, ii. 12.

^{1 2} e Ephef, ii, 19.

Place, too well fortified to admit of any Impression, and that must infallibly triumph over every Assault. He has so played bis Artillery, that it recoils upon Himself, and crushes his own Design.—And this, I apprehend, will always be the Issue, when Men even of the finest Genius and most improved Capacities, presume to attack the Scriptures of eternal Truth.

This very Paffage, instead of depretiating, unspeakably emobles, the divine Writings. It shews, that they bear the Stamp-of that all-over-raling Power, which purposes, and none shall disanull it --- of that all-comprehending Knowledge, which discerns Events, long, long before they come into Existence .-- And let any unprejudiced Reader judge, what Degree of Esteem those Books may fairly challenge; whose least considerable, or, in his Lordship's Opinion, most obnoxious Parts, have fuch a Depth and fuch a Dignity of Wifdom! Such as will be admired and revered, fo long as biftoric Truth has any Credit, or commercial Intelligence any Being. Upon the whole; I comet but signer men of the Old Testament, carry all the Marks of the most difinterested and undefigning Sincerity. They record the Failings of their favourite and most illustrious Heroes; without concealing the Panishment, inflicted on fuch Miscarriages. The uniform Tendency of their Narratives and Observations is, To promote a Religion the most pure, the most benevolent, the most elevated imaginable; as remote from all felfish Aims, and every low Art of Collusion, as the Heavens are higher than the Earth. They were Men fingularly qualified for their Work; being either Eye-Witnesses of the Facts, they relate; or elfe Cotemporaries with the Perfons, they describe; or still more remarkably distinguifhed, by their Ability to work Mira. cles, and their Infight into Futurity. As to the Facts related, fome of them had anniverfary Solemnities, on which they were commemorated: Some of them had fignificant Ceremonies, by which they were represented. They were publickly read in the Synagogues, and univerfally known through the Nation. It was a Duty of Religion, to talk of them by Day, to meditate on them by Night, and diligently to instruct the Children in them. were not these Circumstances a Security, an inviolable Security against any Attempt to corrupt, to innovate, or alter?—So that their Writings appear with every Character, both internal and external, of genuine Truth; and with the most unquestionable Credentials, from the GOD of Power, and GOD of Wisdom. Consequently, they have a Credibility of their own: sufficient both to claim, and to support, the Faith of an antient Jew. Such as must command the Assent of every rational and bonest Inquirer, even before the Christian Dispensation took Place.

Shall I trespass upon your Ladyship's Patience, a little farther?——The Penmen

If my Lord had duly adverted to these Considerations; surely, He would have expunged that bold and rash Affertion, without Christianity we have no Obligation to believe the Old Testament." — Surely, he would never have lest behind Him, that unwarrantable and injurious Infinuation; That the Hebrew Original definitions

d Another very extraordinary Peculiarity in these Writings; and, to me at least, an undoubted Proof, that their Authors were divinely inspired; is, Their perfest Agreement, and entire Consistency throughout.—
Though they were composed by different Men; placed in very different Stations of Life; and sourishing in very different Ages of the World: Yet, they are as confonant and harmonious, as if they had all been penned by the fame Hand.—Any Thing equal to this, I never saw; never heard of; and I believe, the most inveterate or most sagacious Adversaries of the Old Testament, will not attempt to produce a Parallel.

Story of the Septuagint Translation.—
Nor have found any Reason to protest, that He knew of no Rule to go by, sin settling the Degree of Affent, due to the several Parts of the Old Testament) but the fanciful Distinction, which has already been examined.——He would rather have found Reason to adopt and subscribe Agur's Confession of Faith. A Man, who was famous in his own, who will be famous in every Generation; and for this, among other most judicious Maxims; EVERT word of GOD is pure. This all Gold, fine Gold, without any the least Alloy.

For my own Part, I freely acknowledge to your Ladyship, that I value the facred History (even exclusive of its Connection with the transcendent Glories of CHRISF, and the unspeakable Benefits of Redemption) on the very same Principles, which incline

f The Story is told, pag. 86.—The Infinuation is made, in a prolix, confused, and obscure Paragraph, pag. 87.

F Pag. 100.

h Prov. xxx. 5. St. Peter bears much the fame Testimony, to the whole Order of scriptural Writings. With regard to their Use, He calls them Milk; because, nothing is so well adapted to nourish our Faith and our Holiness. With regard to their Quality, He styles them (addition) sincere, unadulterated, pure; without any Mixture of Falshood, or any Tincture of Folly. 1 Pet. ii. 2.

incline our Connofficurs to value those calebrated Antiques, they call Medals fingular. Because, it is supposed, there is but one of the Sort extant .- Confidering the priwate Interests, and personal Attachments, which are fo apt to biafs the human Mind a confidering the imperfect Information, and Ignorance of Causes, to which all other Writers are unavoidably subject; I cannot but conclude, that the facred Hiftory is, in Point of ftrict, precise, universal Veracity, SINGULAR. There is none other besides this, no, not one in the whole World, that is free from all the false Colourings of Prejudice; clouded with no Mixture of Uncertainty; most minutely true; and to be depended on, in every Particular. The Sacred Hiftory, is nor only feated on the Throne of Truth; but, in thefe Respects, possesses it without a Rival.

Lord Bolingbroke is fond of Davila: because, Davila discovers the bidden Springs

I He wrote a History of the civil Wars of France, in fifteen Books; containing all that was remarkable, from the Death of Heary II. In 1559, to the Peace of Vervius in 1598. It was originally written in Italian, and translated into French by J. Bodoin. Collier's Hist. Dist.

Springs of Action, and traces up almost every Enterprize to it's Source. 2—Is this fo valuable a Qualification in the Italian? How then should we admire the inspired Historians? Who disclose to us, not the secret Measures of a Court, but the unserchable Counsels of Heaven: Not the little Motives, that actuate the Politician, but the deep Designs of the universal Sovereign: And all this, not from precarious Surmise, but with the fullest Assurance. An Excellency! to which no other Narrative on Earth, can lay any Claim.

The Scriptures throw Light upon the most memorable Transactions, that have paffed in the Heathen World, and are recorded by the classic Authors. - When the Affyrian Monarch fubdues Kingdoms, and ravages Nations ; We are apt to think, He is only gratifying his infatiable Ambition. - But the Scripture affures us, that He was the Staff in JEHOVAH's Hand. and the Rod of bis Indignation. 1 An Instrument, made use of by the King of Kings, to execute his righteous Vengeance. noble Exercifes, educated in all the fine Accomplishments, that form the gallant Prince, and constitute the complete Ge-K nerals neral; Xenophon fees nothing more, than the Exertion of human Policy. But Ifaiab beholds the all super-intending Arm of the LORD, girding this Hero, and preparing Him for the Deliverance of his People.—So that the Scripture-History is itself the grandest and most useful; while its inter-current Observations, are a Key to open, the most celebrated Affairs, which give Weight and Estimation to other Annals.

Pag. 167. 1 Ifai. x. 5.

The grandest, and most useful.—This will appear to be more than a bare Assertion, if we recollect; That Here is a Display of that great Messiah, who is the Hope of Israel, and the Desire of all Nations. A Display of Him, in his mysterious Incarnation; his wonderful Person; and all the gracious, the benign Majesty of his mediatorial Offices. From the original Promise, (made to our first Parents) through all its progressive Evolutions; till He arises in the New Testament, as the only begotten m Ifai. xlv. 5. I have girded Thee, though Thom haft not known me. Xemophon's Kope Haddia, though written with quite a different View, is a very fine, and perhaps the very best Comment, on Ifaiab's beautiful and expressive Phrase, TIRN-Acts xxviii, 20. Hag. ii. 7:

of the Father; P with a Lustre and Dignity, suitable to so divine a Personage.—
Which is an Event, of such incomparable Condescention, Magnificence, and Grace, that all the Prophets bear Witness to it, and the very Angels desire to look into it.

How then must your Ladyship be furprifed, to fee Lord Bolingbroke undertaking to affign the principal Scope of the Mosaic History, ' (the former Part of it at least,) and not enlarging, not dwelling upon, no, nor fo much as mentioning, the Redeemer. That all-glorious, all-important REDEEMER, who is the Sum and Substance of the whole Scriptures: the Alpha and Omega in all the Revelations of GOD. Of whom Mofes wrote, ' and whose Day Abraham faw. "- Whose Righteousness was preached by Noab, and his final Advent foretold by Enoch. - W h ofcerits, apprehended by Faith, were the Recommendation of Abel's Sacrifice; 7 and the Confolation of Adam, 2 under the Lofs of Immortality, and Expulsion from Paradife. - From whom many, if not all, K 2

P John i, 14, Acts x. 43. I Pet. i. 12.
Pag. 109. John v. 46. John viii. 56.
2 Pet. ii 5. It can hardly be doubted, but Nowh pseached the very fame Righteenfness, of which he himielf was an Heir: and that, we are affured, was the Righteonfness of Faith; Heb. xi. 7.

Z Jude xiv. Y Heb. xi. 4. Gen. iii. 15.

the Ante-diluvian Patriarchs, borrow their Honours; and fland upon everlasting Record, chiefly as being in the Number of his Progenitors .- This capital Omiffion is (to use his Lordship's own Language). " a manifest Abuse of facred History, and " quite inexcufable in a Writer, who knew, or should have known," that, in its most early as well as in its later Periods, it invariably teftifies of CHRIST.

Thus to undertake, and thus to execute, is as if some Pretender to Anatomy, should engage to explain the Nature of Animal Motion; and fay not a Word, concerning the Nerves, the Mufcles, the Heart. Or, as if some Smatterer in Geography, should offer to exhibit a complete Map of our Country; and leave entirely out of his Plans the Cities, the Towns, and the Rivers .--Yet, this is not the only Incident, on which my Lord, however critical in profane Literature, discovers Himfelf to have been very remis in the Study, at least very superficial in the Knowledge, of his Bible.

From which Hint I would take Occasion to entreat, and with the most affectionate Earnestness, all that are inclined to dispute against this divine Book, first to make themselves thoroughly acquainted with it .-

And would they once fetabout the momentous Work, with a candid, upright, and impartial Mind: Free from the Jaundice of Prejudices; not blinded with the Fumes of Self-Conceit; nor intoxicated with the Cupof vicious Pleafure: If they would thus examine the inspired Volumes, they would foon perceive such a lovely Constellation of Truth, of Wisdom, and of Grace, shining forth from every Page; as must turn their Disestern into Admiration, and their Aversion into Delight.

But if they bring with them a Fondness for Fame; a haughty Self-fufficiency of Spirit; or an ignoble Attachment to fenfual. Gratifications: If they are determined to cherish, and will on no Consideration divorce, these Seducers of the Heart, and Perverters of the Judgment : We cannot wonder, that the Scriptures should appear to them, with much the fame Afpect, as the miraculous. Cloud appeared to the Egyptians: Which threw Darkness on their Paths, and shed Horrour on their Souls; even while it gave Light to the Steps, and Alacrity to the Hopes, of the Ifraelites. -In this Case, we may affign a Reason. for their Opposition, from the unhappy Circumftances Exod. xiv. 20. It was a Cloud and Darkness to them, but it gave Light by Night to these.

cumstances recorded of Ishmael: 4 Their Hand, their Tongue, their Pen, is against the Word of GOD; because, the Word of GOD is against them, their Tempers, and their Ways.

In the facred Narrations, we behold the Arm of the LORD revealed.—Other Historians, only guess at the Interposition of an avenging, or propitious GOD. And, though Conjectures of this Kind, occur but very rarely, in their Works; they are frequently censured, as a presumptuous Intrusion upon the Arcana of Heaven.—But the Pen-men of Scripture, with unerring Certainty declare; This is the LORD's Doing: a Stroke from the Sword of his Justice, or a Reward from the Riches of his Goodness.

Here

d Gen. xvi. 12. His Hand will be against every Man, and overy Man's Hand against Him.

e See 2 Chron. x. 15. xv. 6. xxv. 20. xxviii. 5, 6. xxix. 8, 9.

See 2 Chron. xii. 7.——xiii. 15, 16, 18, xiv. 6, 12.——xxvi. 5.——xxvii. 6.——I refer to the Chronicles, rather than to the other Parts of facred History, in order to create a higher Effects for these excellent Memoirs. Many People, I believe, are contentedly ignorant of the Chronicles. Because, some of the first Chapters consist of Hebrew Names, which are far bidding, and of genealogical Tables, which are assistant, to the Generality of Readers.—But, not, withstanding

Here we perceive, as in the brightest Mirrour, what Practices He favours, and what Methods He oppofes: what Courses are attended with his Bleffing, and what Behaviour provokes his Displeasure.-These Records fet before us the most firiking Exemplifications, both of the divine Threatnings, and of the divine Promifes : demonstrating, from repeated Experience, that the former, are more than vain Menaces; the latter, are far from alluring Fallacies. By which Means, they are admirably well adapted, to inculcate those fundamental Lessons of practical Religion-a continual Advertence to GOD -a believing Dependence on GOD-and an habitual Expectation of Success in our Schemes, not merely from any Address or Industry of our own, but from the allpowerful Benediction of GOD .- Which are, of all other Precepts, perhaps, the most falutary and beneficial to Mankind.

My

withstanding their unpromising Introduction, they comtain the most memorable and mementous Occurrences.
They are interspersed with the most weighty and edifying Remarks. They are worthy of our repeated Perusal, and will amply repay the most careful Attention.

— I would compare them to some noble Mine, whose Surface is barren, and seems to include nothing valuable. But, as you penetrate the Soil, the Treafure opens. The deeper you go, the more Riches you find. And, instead of regretting the little Toil of Application, you are only grieved, that you andertook the gainful Search no sooger.

My Remarks would be immoderately prolis, were they to enumerate all the Perfections of Sacred History. I shall content myself with wishing, that your Ladyship may esteem, may reverence, may love the whole Book of GOD,—only in Proportion to its Worth. Then, I am persuaded, it will have your bigbest Esteem, your profoundest Reverence, and most devoted Love.

they are admirably well adapted, to ince Before I conclude, give me Leave, Madam, to make one Request. Which I make, under a Sense of my various Obligations to your Ladyship; with all the engaging Acts of your Condescention and Generofity, full in my View. It ought therefore to be, and it really is, expressive of the most unfeigned Thankfulness for your Favours, and of the truest Zeal for your Happiness. It is this-That you would carry on a daily Intercourse, and cultivate a holy, an intimate Familiarity, with the infpired Writers, and their ineftimable Volumes,---Read them. Recollect them. Weigh them. -- Contemplate them, in their magnificent Whole; in their beautiful Parts; and their harmonious Connections.

I should be afraid to recommend, in this zealous Manner, and to this assiduous Perusals rufal, the most correct Compositions, that ever proceeded from a buman Pen. But Here, I am under no Apprehension, of your exhausting the Mine, and complaining of Emptiness: under no Apprehension, lest the Entertainment should flatten upon your Tafte, and create Difgust. The more We fearch those Store-Houses of Wisdom; the better We understand those Oracles of Truth; the more they will approve themfelves to our Judgment, and become dearer, fill dearer to our Affections .- The Pages of Scripture, like the Productions of Nature, will not only endure the Test, but improve upon the Trial. The Application of the Microscope to the one, and a repeated Meditation on the other, are fure to display new Beauties, and present Us with bigher Attractives .- Nay, the very Attempts of an Adversary to blacken the Scriptures, ferve only to encrease their Lustre. For my Part, I never should have feen the Prediction of Noab, rifing, with fuch Perspicuity, Propriety, and Glory, to Observation; had not Lord Bolingbroke made an Effort, to over-whelm it with Objections, and fink i it into Discredit.

Above

^{*} An Allusion to the Motto, in the Title Page, Merfes profundo, pulchrior exents, and expressive of its Meaning.

Above all, may We bring to this best of Studies, an bumble Mind. A Mind. deeply fenfible of its own Ignorance and Weakness; yet frequently and chearfully lifted up to GOD, for his enlightening and animating Spirit. That, by his bleffed Influences, our Understandings may be opened to understand the Scriptures, and our Hearts opened to receive them: ' to understand them, in all the Fulness of their heavenly Meaning; to receive them, in all the Force of their transforming Power. - That, reading the Threatnings, We may tremble * at the awful Word; and acknowledge ourselves justly liable, to those terrible Judgments. But at the fame Time believe, that CHRIST bas delivered Us from the Curse of h Luk xxiv. 45.

k See Ezra x. 3. — 2 Chron, xxxiv. 27. Where it might not be amis, to compare the Temper of true Believers, and the Behaviour of an illustrious King, with the Spirit that runs through his Lordfeip's Performance.

Act. xvi. 14.—Such is the Darknefs, fuch the Depravity of our Minds, that they will not, they cannot, be made wife unto Salvation, even from the Scriptures themselves, without the powerful Agency of the blessed Spirit. Unless his Instances enlighten our Understandings; and apply the Doctrines, when understood, to our Hearts; We shall be, even with the Word of Light and Life in our Hands, somewhat like blind Bartimens, sitting amidst the Beams of Day; or like the withered Arm, with invaluable Treasures before it. This, I think, Experience must acknowledge; this, I am very certain, the Texts referred to, in Concert with many others, evince.

the Law, being made a Curfe for Us.1-That, reading the Promises, We may confess Ourselves unworthy of an Interest, in fuch unspeakable Bleffings. Yet rest affured, that all the Promises of GOD are Yea and Amen in CHRIST JESUS: " are our unquestionable Portion, through his Merits and Atonement; and will certainly be fulfilled, through his Intercession and Faithfulness. - Reading the Precepts, let Us rejoyce in the Belief, that our Saviour, obedient unto Death, has fulfilled them perfettly for our Justification: that our Saviour, exalted unto Heaven, has engaged to put his Spirit within Us for our Sanctification; causing Us to walk in his Statutes, and to keep his Judgments, and do them."-Contemplating the various Examples, may We use some of them, as admonitory Sea-Marks, to avoid the Rocks of Sin: use others, as a conducting Clue, to guide our Feet into the way of Peace: use all, as so many Incitements, to awaken our Circumfpection, or quicken our Diligence, in making our Calling and Election fure.

Then, We shall have another Proof, that the Original of these holy Books, is not from Man, but from the LORD JE-HOVAH. A Proof, which some People

l Gal. iii. 13.

^{= 2} Corinth. i. 20.

^{*} Ezek xxxvi, 27.

may explode, as imaginary or enthufiaftical: but is really of the utmost Solidity, and of the last Importance. Which, though by no Means independent on, much less exclufive of, other Evidences; is, nevertheless, to each individual Person, incomparably more valuable, than any, or every other Atteffation. We shall HAVE THE WITNESS IN OURSELVES. . We shall experience, on our own Souls, the happy Energy of the Scriptures. They will be the Instrument of working, such a lively Faith in CHRIST; fuch an ardent Love of GOD; fuch a cordial Benevolence for our Fellow-Creatures; Pas cannot fail to exalt our Defires, refine our Affections, and dignify,

• 1 John v. 10.

P This is what his Lordship means, or ought to mean, when He speaks of " the proper Force of Religion? " that Force which fubdues the Mind, and awes the " Conscience by Conviction," pag. 182. And I am well affured, whatever He may furmife to the contrary. that this Voucher to the real Intpiration of the Scriptures, and divine Original of Christianity, " is not wanting." Nay, I durft venture to engage, that it never will be wanting to any Person, who seeks it with due Attention, and becoming Diligence : and neither forgets, nor neglects those necessary Preparatives, prescribed by the great Mafter of the Christian School-the one. comprehended in this Maxim; If any Man will do bis Will, He shall know of the Delirine, whether it be of GOD. John vii. 17. The other, delivered in the following Direction; If any of you lack Wisdom, let Him afk of GOD, subo giveth to all Men liberally, and up. braideth not, and it fall be given Him. Jam. i. 5.

dignify our Tempers.—Such as will administer Comfort under Affliction, and impart an additional Relish to Prosperity.—Such as will teach Us to order our Conversation right, amidst all the Snares, all the Labyrinths of Time; and gradually train Us up, for the pure Bliss, and consummate Enjoyments of Eternity.

May THIS Proof, Madam, be written on your Heart—written in bright and indelible Characters—written by the Finger of the living GOD!—Then, I am affured, every Attempt to stagger your Belief, or withdraw your Veneration from THE BIBLE; will be like an Attempt, to shatter the Rock in Pieces with a Bubble, or to piece the Adamant with a Feather.—This is not only the fincere Wish; but, so long as Religion and Gratitude have any Place in my Breast, it will also be the earnest Prayer of much obliged,

Your Ladyship's

and most obedient humble Servant,

April 22d.

JAMES HERVEY.

POSTSCRIPT.

Have taken no Notice of his Lordship's Animadversions, relating to the Genuineness of the Gospel-History. Because, this would be entering upon a new Field; which I leave open and untouched, for fome more able Defender of that invaluable Depositum. -- Not that I apprehend, there is any Thing very formidable in the Attack. But I think it would be ferviceable, as I am perfuaded it is eafy, to fhew the Weakness and Uunreasonableness of those Arguments; which Men of superior Abilities are obliged to take up with, when they lift themselves under the Banner of Scepticism or Infidelity. -It would also be a Piece of public Justice, to enquire into the Sincerity, Probity, and Confistency of those Writers; who, in fome Places, lay a mighty Strefs upon the Authority of the New Testament; (pag. 94.) in others, endayour to fap the very Foundation of its Credibility; (pag. 177.)

FINIS.

Since the Postscript was written, an Incident has occurred, which affords me the Pleasure of informing the Public—That Lord Bolingbroke's Objections to the Authenticity of the Evangelical Historians, will shortly receive an Answer, from the Pen of my learned and judicious Friend, the Revd. Mr. Whalley of Northampson.

MARY WEST WAY AND A STANKER MAN

The years to tell

Lately Publish'd, In TWO VOLUMES, Price 6s. bound, The NINTH EDITION of

MEDITATIONS

AND

CONTEMPLATIONS.

CONTAINING,

the Tomms. And, A DESCANT OR CREATION.

VOL. I. VOL. II.
MEDITATIONS among | CONTEMPLATIONS ON the NIGHT. REFLECTIONS ON A CONTEMPLATIONS ON FLOWER-GARDEN; | the STARRY HEA-VENS; And, A WINTER-PIECE.

By JAMES HERVEY, A.M.

Rector of Weston Favel, Northamptonshire.

Printed for John and James Rivington. Of whom may be had,

A Metzotinto Head of the Rev. Mr. HERVEY. Done by Mr. Faber, from a Painting of Mr. John Michael Williams.